Specie for Fractional Currency-Champton Billiardists-O'Conor's "Health.

By American Press Association to the STAR. NEW YORK, Feb. 21. - The Times' Washington special says the time has come, in the judgment of many efficers of the Government and members and Senators, when it is possible to begin the substitution of subsidiary silver coins for fractional currency. The price of gold is now such that the small silver coins are really of less value than green-backs. Dr. Linderman thinks that, con-sidering all the influences which serve to keep coin in circulation, gold would have to rise to 118 or 120 before there could be any danger of the withdrawal of silver coins for manufacture or merchandise.

Treasurer New also expressed himself

Treasurer New also expressed himself as favorable to the withdrawal of fractional currency, and thinks the work can now be begun with entire safety. The ten-cent and twenty-five cent notes will probably be the first withdrawn.

William Sexton, the American billiardist, has challenged Maurice Vignaux, the world's champion, to play a three-ball game at Paris next month. Vignaux has accepted.

Charles O'Conor's health is now completely re-established.

A Sad Sell on a Swell Swain. The present proprietors of the Astor House objected to having their parlors turned into trysting-places for mule and female flirts, and the manager of the hotel, Mr. Laosing, played an amusing joke recently upon one young gentleman of this description who came under his notice. He found the following "personal" in a morning paper one day:

Another note was written to him, when rumor spread in the street that Weston was walking on a wager in the Astor, and a crowd poured in to look at him. He was probably the most crestfallen young man in New York when the clerks finally called him into their private office and opened his syes.

A Man Killed by a Mouse.

A most extrordinary occurrence was brought to light a few days since at an inquest held on the body of a manin South London. From the evidence it appears that in a work-room where many young girls were at work a mouse suddenly made its appearance on a table, causing, of course, considerable commotion. The intruder was seized, however, by a young man who happened to be present, but the mouse shipped out of his hand and running up his sleeve came out between his waisscoat and shirt at the neck. The unfortunate man had his mouth open, and the mouse darted mouth open, and the mouse darted to the result of the resu to be a fact in the present instance, for the mouse began to tear and-gnaw in-side the man's turout and chest; and the lesuit was that the unfortunate fellow died after a little time in the most hor-rible agony. Several witnesses having corroborated the above facts, and medical evidence having been given as to the cause of death, a verdict of "Acol-dental death" was returned. The mouse has been preserved in spirits of wine, and has been placed in the muscum of the London hospital.—[Advertisec.

At the regular weekly meeting of the Methodist ministers Rev. T. De Witt Peak, pastor of the M. E. Church as Milford, read a long and carefully prepared essay on the Rible in the Public Schools. He took strong ground against its expulsion, and gave as his reason that this was a Christian Government.

The framers of our Constitution were God-fearing men and in every act showed their allegiance to him. Numerous authorities were quoted ex-Numerous authorities were quoted en-plaining the clauses in the Constitution providing for the free exercise of all ma-ligious as not ignoring by any means the claims of the Christian religion to pref-ercace. The general-religion of a com-munity can not be allowed to be openly and publicly detamed. Expelling the Bible from the schools would be an at-ternat to delie our general religion, and and publicly delamed. Expelling the Bible from the schools would be an intempt to defile our general religion, and therefore it must not be done.

Among the other arguments used were these: To expel the Bible would be buse ingratitude to the principles which have made our country great and powerful. A large majority of the people can not conselectiously support a government conscientiously support a government which ignores Christianity. This same argument will not hold on the other side. because a man can not have a conscience against the Word of God. Expelling the Bible would be a discrimination against Christianity, for this would make the

The article, by request of the minis-Ray. A. Bowers spoke of the bad effect of the opposition to the Bible ape
